EDITORIAL FLINGS

Every cloud has a silver lining. Why should promoters be repining? Pick your cloud, proceed to park it. And put the stock on the market.

The Paris man who thinks he can buy a pair of silk stockings for the price of a cotton pair is likely to get a run for his money.

Many a Paris man thinks he is a philosopher just because he remains cheerful in spite of the aches and pains suffered by his better-half.

Deer meat is being shipped from Alaska to New York for the Thanksgiving market. Deer meat would be a rarity in Paris, but deer meat is not a rarity, by any means. Let us pray.

The heavy Smith vote does not fully explain the result in the New York gubernatorial race, but it does look as if nobody but members of the Lodge family voted for Lodge in Massachusetts.

William Allen Pinkerton thinks crooks of to-day are not as clever as the "master crooks of old times." Nothing so brilliant as the rainbows of the long ago; nothing is quite like the starlight, the autumn days or the incomparable girls "when we were twenty-one."

Whenever a Paris undertaker hears of or sees a fool autoist hitting it up on all six at the rate of about sixty miles an hour, and with only one hand on the steering wheel, he immediately begins to have all the caskets in the shop dusted off, ready for an occupant.

Vanceburg Sun: "One of the funniest stunts pulled off in Vanceburg recently was when two very popular ladies with church connections, tried to coax the Jailor to let them have one of the captured moonshine stills. Said they wanted it to use as an ash barrel at the church."

Paris women who do their own housework ought not to complain. Now just suppose you had to eat a man's cooking, that is the cooking that would be done by just the ordinary kind of man? There would soon be an open season on men cooks, we're thinking.

An investigator finds that prisoners in the Frankfort penitentiary are treated humanely, but even a casual inspection of the Executive Journal will show that the public is treated inhumanly by a Governor who responds with perfect courtesy to the inmate's request: "Pardon me, Your Excellency. I was put in for killing a man, and I should like to be out."

A Paris man has been eating whale steak, purchased through a Chicago mail order house. That may be all right. Whale milk has been suggested as a substitute for cow's milk, but darned if we are going to get up in these cold winter mornings and swim out twenty of thirty miles in the ocean full of water and milk a whale. We're no Jonah.

Well, old pal, you must realize that trouble is a good deal like a bath tub—easy to get into, but rather difficult to get out of.

When a woman tells you that another woman is "simply the limit" you have every reason to ask her "what is the limit?" and to believe that she is or she isn't.

What is the matter with Paris children of the present day? For one thing, perhaps, the grownups are giving them too many bad examples.

Nowadays the only difference between the small town and the big town is that you can wear a new suit and one of those latest style hats in a big town without attracting more than casual attention.

It used to be said that every girl should learn to swim, if for no other reason than that she might some time fall into the water and save her life by swimming. But could any present-day woman swim wearing the earrings of the period?

It is stated that over two billion postage stamps have been sold in the last two months, and still there not enough to go around, judging from the "Due 2 cents" letters that have been received at the Paris postoffice (some of which found their way to THE NEWS office.)

Those who have read "The Bar Sinister," which comes very near being the best dog story ever written, will appreciate the honors bestowed on the horse transformed from between the shafts of a New York garbage wagon into a blue ribbon winner at the National Horse Show.

This is the time of year when the average Bourbon county hunter goes forth with a $100 gun, a $100 pair of dogs, a $25 hunting suit, $25 worth of shells, and large hopes and expectations, and returns at the end of the day with a severe cold, rheumatism, lumbago, and two fifteen cent rabbits.

For the benefit (if they can take the hint) of a number of thick-headed mutts, THE NEWS reprints the following from an earlier edition in regard to the nuisances who come to a newspaper office, take possession of the newspaper man's desk and his private property as well:

"Many persons whose conscience would prevent them standing over a telegraph operator and reading the message he is sending, or at the side of a bank bookkeeper and looking over his figures, will not hesitate to hang over the newspaper man's shoulder, and read the 'copy' he is preparing, or the 'proof' he is reading. Do they get the idea that the newspaper man doesn't care for privacy, or that office are public property? We wonder."

TOBACCO TROUBLES OVER.

It has been a long time since Kentucky was the scene of acute tobacco troubles of depredations committed against the growers determined to raise a crop. With burley and dark tobacco growers already organized for co-operative marketing, troubles that formerly beset the tobacco farmers seem to be over.

Several attempts have been made to control the acreage, and, failing by lawful means to influence the growers to adopt the "no crop" idea, unlawful methods often were resorted to in the hope of intimidating and coercing the recalcitrant growers. Favorite methods were "salting" and "scraping" the plant beds, thus preventing any setting out of a crop; cutting down of growing plants in the field and even the burning of tobacco barns after the crop had been gathered and was in process of curing for the sale market, were among the outrages.

Growing tobacco under such circumstances was a hazardous and uncertain undertaking, but co-operation and sound business principles have supplanted force and intimidation in the tobacco growing industry.

DECEMBER 16 TIME LIMIT FOR VETERAN AID

Disabled veterans who have not yet made application for vocational training must do so before December 16 or lose the opportunity of receiving government aid, Col. Charles R. Forbes, director of the Veterans' Bureau, has announced. Wherever it is possible it is best for the applicant to apply in person at one of the district or sub-district offices of the bureau, Col. Forbes said. Application forms may be obtained at any bureau office.

D'YE MIND THE TIME

When These Things Happened In Paris, As Told In THE NEWS' Files!

DAYS OF AULD LANG SYNE

There's no denying that to most of us there is a certain satisfaction in reviewing the events of long ago, as they are presented to us, either casually or by force of some reminiscent strain of the moment. And to those who lived here in the long ago the recalling of events in the old days of Paris affords a peculiar satisfaction all its own. They, perhaps, more than we who have grown used to the old place, will appreciate these items, taken at random from a copy of THE BOURBON NEWS, of Wednesday, June 29, 1881:

Seven couples of young gentlemen and ladies from here attended the commencement hop at Cynthiana, last week.

At the commencement exercises in Paris last Wednesday, two little girls mixed up a song thusly: Mary had a little lamb—shouting the battle cry of freedom.

Geo. Wyatt, of near Shawhan, gave a reception in honor of Miss Georgia Lou Comer, and her cousin, Daisy Rule, last week, prior to Miss Comer leaving her school to return to her home near Petersburg, Ky. Miss Daisy accompanied her home.

This afternoon, at Georgetown, Ky., Harry Orr, of this city, will wed Mrs. Weedie Tucker, at the residence of Dr. Barlow, father of the bride. THE NEWS extends hearty congratulations to the happy pair.

James C. Ernst, of the Blue Grass Route, informs us that he will run another excursion to Niagara, in the latter part of July. Also, that he will at an early day, run one via Cincinnati and Louisville, by boat, to the Mammoth Cave.

DIED—In this county, Wednesday night, Mrs. Maggie Fry Current, aged 27 years. Her funeral was preached at the Christian church Friday morning, by Elder J. S. Sweeney, and her remains deposited in the Paris Cemetery.

Frakes Bros. threw up the sponge and quit the meat business last Monday. Phillips & Elgin will follow suit July 1st, and Jeff Elgin will open on his own responsibility in a few days.

"Long John," part of the motive power of Craddock's press, excused to Lexington in the Colonel's best suit, while the Colonel was in Cincinnati.

H. C. Sharp is now located at Clay's distillery near Paris, and makes his home at his father's, near headquarters.

Prof. Andrew Gutzeit, of Paris, in company with Mrs. Jos. Hedges, and Mrs. Young Morgan and son, went to Cincinnati last Thursday to select a fine piano for Mrs. Morgan. They bought from Baldwin.

A lady who, in consequence of great reverses of fortune, has been working for a fashionable milliner, says she is absolutely amazed to find to what an extent in the days of her wealth she was swindled in her bonnets and dresses.

The Board of Directors of the Kentucky Central Railroad met in Covington, Monday, and unanimously voted an extension from Paris to Knoxville, via Winchester and Richmond. The contract was awarded Warner, Taber & Co., and the work will be completed from Paris to Winchester in three months from Monday, and through Knoxville by July 1, 1882. Judge Turney will at once convene County Court, and a proposition for the right of way will be submitted, which, of course, will no doubt be granted, as it most assuredly should. We congratulate Paris on being made the Indianapolis of the Bluegrass region.

At the last regular meeting of the Rescue Fire Company, the following persons were elected to serve as officers for the ensuing six months:

President, R. W. O'Connor.
Vice President, Nick Kriener.
Secretary, A. J. Lovely.
Treasurer, O. A. Gilman.
Captain, James A. Stewart.
Assistant Captain, Wm. Peebles.
Engineer, Wm. O. Hite.
Fireman, John Schuman.
Engine Directors, Wm. Mitchell and W. T. Ficklin.

Line Directors, C. N. Fithian, R. S. Porter, E. B. January and Wm. Goodloe.

Pipesmen, G. W. Nippert, Henry Coons, James McClintock and Geo. T. Smith.

The company and all its apparatus are in excellent condition and ranks among the best volunteer companies in the country.
